These chess pieces are reproductions of the Isle of Lewis chessmen. In 1831 the sea carried away a sandbank on the Isle of Lewis uncovering a mysterious building that had been buried under the sand. The superstitious highlander flung down his spade and fled home in horror. Superstition in Lewis had survived in a powerful form. Thus, when the peasant first looked at the group of singular little ivory figures it was natural that they should appear as the pigmy sprites of Celtic folklore. However, he was induced by his wife to return to the spot and take the figures home. He sold them to a local collector who realised they were chessmen. There were 78 pieces in all belonging to eight or more sets. This set requires one of our mini chess boards which is not included.

This chess set is all about Cambridge and Oxford: generous and powerful founders and benefactors, inspiring academics, stunning surroundings and an 800 year old university rivalry. Both cities have thrived over the centuries, supported by benevolent clergy, nobility and civic benefactors. The resulting buildings, colleges, and churches that they supported can be seen across the cities. The courtyards and facades of these buildings are often graced by the statues of their founders. All the pieces have been chosen from all the above aspects of the cities.

16108- ROMAN 4" HAND-PAINTED

The longevity and vast extent of the Roman Empire ensured the lasting influence of Latin and Greek language, culture, religion, inventions, architecture, philosophy, law and forms of government on the Empire's descendants. Throughout the European medieval period, attempts were even made to establish successors to the Roman Empire, including the Crusader state, the Empire of Romania and the Holy Roman Empire. By means of European expansionism through the Spanish, French, Portuguese, Dutch, Italian, Russian, German, British and Belgian Empires, Greco-Roman culture was spread on a worldwide scale, playing a significant role in the development of the modern world. 16187- BATTLE of BANNOCKBURN HAND-PAINTED 4.25"

The pieces of this fabulous chess set depict the Scots side led by Robert the Bruce, King Robert I of Scotland, who was famously heartened by the tenacious spider to persist in his struggle against the English. He is accompanied by his Queen Elizabeth de Burgh who was reunited with king Robert after being captured eight years earlier. The English are represented by Edward II who reigned from 1284 until 1327 when he was deposed, imprisoned and horrifically killed at the behest of his wife, the Queen of England, Isabella of France. The rook on both sides is the Tower of Sterling Castle which overlooked the battle from its site on top of an ancient volcanic rock.

The British King, George III, decided that he must punish the disobedient colonists in North America for their refusal to submit to his authority and pay taxes to the British Crown. He sent his army, commanded by Lord Cornwallis to subdue the revolutionaries. This splendid Studio Anne Carlton chess set features many of the famous historical characters of the period. George Washington, Betsy Ross, Benjamin Franklin and Paul Revere are just a few who played an important part in the struggle to claim independence from the British Crown. Our artists and sculptors have created this chess set to enable you to re-live some of the major battles and engagements and perhaps ... who knows... alter the course of history.

15114 Egyptian 4.5"

This beautiful chess set depicts figures from the civilisation of Ancient Egypt, a society which began around 3150BC, growing rapidly along the banks of the River Nile. Trade with other countries and its agricultural security helped it to become enormously prosperous; and due to this great wealth the rulers, known as Pharaohs, were very powerful, as were its priests.

16114- EGYPTIAN 4.5" HAND-PAINTED

This Studio Anne Carlton chess set depicts Ramesses II, also known as Ramesses the Great, who was the third pharaoh of the Nineteenth Dynasty of Egypt with his consort Nefertari. He is often regarded as the greatest, most celebrated, and most powerful pharaoh of the Egyptian Empire. Known as Ozymandias in Greek he was the longest ruling pharaoh, celebrating an unprecedented 14 'SED' festivals (the first held after thirty years of a pharaoh's reign, and then every three years) during his reign—more than any other pharaoh. On his death, he was buried in a tomb in the Valley of the Kings

A very popular set which shows the infamous Robin Hood and other characters from his outlaw band ready to take on his adversary, The Sherriff of Nottingham. Robin Hood is a heroic outlaw in English folklore who, according to legend, was a highly skilled archer and swordsman. Traditionally depicted as being dressed in Lincoln green, he is often portrayed as "robbing from the rich and giving to the poor" alongside his band of Merry Men. Robin Hood became a popular folk figure in the late-medieval period, and continues to be widely represented in literature, films and television.

15161- BATTLE of Culloden 4.5"

Sculpted with great attention to detail and authenticity, this set shows the two sides, English and Scottish and the most important characters of the era prior to the famous battle at Culloden in 1746. Bonnie Prince Charlie was convinced that the Scots could beat the English in battle and thus the scene was set for Culloden. Fewer than 5000 rebels were mustered for the Prince's Army to fight the Duke of Cumberland's Army of 6400 foot soldiers and 2400 cavalry. The outcome of a particularly bloody battle was victory for the English and a loss of 2500 rebel lives. 1800 Scots were taken prisoner.

The American Civil War was one of the earliest true industrial wars. Railroads, the telegraph, steamships, and mass-produced weapons were employed extensively. The mobilization of civilian factories, mines, shipyards, banks, transportation and food supplies all foreshadowed the impact of industrialization in World War I. It remains the deadliest war in American history. This fabulous chess set depicts major players from one of the United States of America's most turbulent periods.

Skilfully had decorated by the artists at Studio Anne Carlton, these pieces represent the Christian side led by King Richard I of England, known as Richard the Lionheart, in combat with the Muslin armies led by Saladin. This chess set concentrates particularly on the Third great Crusade led by King Richard I of England who in 1189 joined king Philip II of France in an effort to recapture the holy city of Jerusalem. King Richard, with 8000 troops, sized Cyprus and some cities on the Palestinian coast, but ultimately failed to dislodge the Muslim leader, Saladin, from Jerusalem.

Since time immemorial men have fought battles with the oceans and seas of the world to try and master the incredible power of these vast bodies of water. The contest has always been unequal for the tempestuous seas are far more powerful than man or anything man made. So how has man been able to survive and flourish in such a hostile environment? By skill, bravery, cunning and a little luck. Our chess set characters symbolise the relationship that man has with the sea.

This superb chess set exactly captures the period in history between 73BC and 71BC when the oppressed slaves led by Spartacus, rose in revolt against their Roman masters. Spartacus was a gladiator of Thracian descent (modern day Bulgaria/Macedonia) and had probably been captured by the Romans whilst defending his country. The ultimate fate of Spartacus was never known. No matter if he died in battle or was crucified on the road to Rome, he gave his followers a year or two of liberty; freedom from their harsh conditions and hope of a better life. This chess set gives you the opportunity to fight again the battles of the slaves against their Roman masters. This time, the outcome may be different. Who knows? 15194- Tower of London 5.5"

The royal palace and fortress of the Tower of London, founded by William the Conqueror shortly after 1066, is one of the world's most famous and spectacular castles. Known for housing the Crown Jewels, its Yeoman Warders ('Beefeaters') and its ravens, the Tower is today the most visited historic site in Britain.

16194- Tower of London HAND-PAINTED 5.5"

The White Tower still stands at the centre of the Tower of London and today houses displays of arms and armour, an echo of the working arsenal that it once was. The medieval Chapel of St John the Evangelist on the first floor is still in use, five centuries after it witnessed the betrothal of Queen Mary I to King Philip II of Spain. This Studio Anne Carlton chess set depicts this royal palace in all its glory.
