Ireland

A scenic view of a traditional Irish cottage with a thatched roof, a stone wall, and a person riding a bicycle on a path. The cottage is white with a thick, golden-brown thatched roof. A stone wall runs along the path, and a person is riding a bicycle on the path. The background shows a blue sea and mountains under a clear blue sky.

The book cover features a central illustration of a megalithic structure, possibly a dolmen or a similar ancient monument, situated on a grassy hill. The structure consists of several large, dark, rectangular stones. One stone is positioned vertically, supporting a large, flat, rectangular stone slab that serves as a roof. To the left of this main structure, there is another smaller, more triangular stone formation. The background shows a vast, open landscape with rolling hills and a cloudy sky. The overall color palette is muted, with greens, greys, and blues. The title 'THE MEGALITHIC EMPIRE' is prominently displayed at the top in a serif font, with 'THE' in a smaller size above 'MEGALITHIC' and 'EMPIRE' below it. The authors' names, 'M.J. Harper' and 'H.L. Vered', are listed at the bottom in a white, sans-serif font.
